Trading in for a Younger model

OTTAWA, September 14, 2012 – The Canada Science and Technology Museums Corporation's Collections and Research Department is pleased to announce it will be hosting Trading in for a Younger model.

Trading in for a Younger Model is a mixer-type event for downtown-based young adults (19+) interested in technological innovation and a discussion on the role of technologies in our lives. The event, broadly based on the speed dating idea, invites participants to interact with artefacts from the CSTMC collection and share their perception of artefacts, suggest objects for display, and ideas for acquisitions of new technologies

WHERE: The HUB Ottawa, 71 Bank Street, 6th Floor

WHEN: Wednesday, September 19, 2012; from 6 to 9 p.m.

WHAT: A mixer where young adults can interact with Museum artefacts and discuss about technology
